WASHINGTON ST. HOME ENTERED

House of Jacob Strang on South Washington Street Entered by Negro who is Later Captured by Local Police.

This morning Chief Gordon and Officer O'Riley arrested William Williams, colored, charged with entering the house of Jacob Strang, of South Washington street, early on Sunday morning.

Mrs. Strang was awakened shortly before two o'clock Sunday morning by hearing some one down stairs. She called her husband and together they went down to investigate. The door leading into the back yard was found open and there were evidences that some one had broken into the place. They at once started search and found Williams hiding in the cellar way, several burned matches and a box of good ones in his hand. He had evidently been trying to find his way around by their meagre light and caused so much racket that he was heard. Mr. Strang got the intruder out of the house and then retired after finding that nothing had been taken. He gave the matter into the hands of the police on Sunday and Williams was arrested this morning. He was given a hearing by Squire Hill and held for Court.

The man comes from Virginia and has been a resident of Gettysburg for about three months. On Saturday night Chief Gordon saw that he was intoxicated and ordered him to go home, following him some distance. Later he saw the man and again gave him orders to go home. When found in the Strang house Williams is said to have sobered up considerably.

Famous Base Ball Player Coming

"Ty" Cobb, the famous Detroit base ball player will be one of those who will accompany the National Highway automobile run which will arrive in Gettysburg Tuesday afternoon to spend the night here before proceeding on their way from New York to Atlanta. Cobb will drive a 30 h. p. Chalmers Detroit car.

Considerable interest will be manifested here in Cobb as there was intense feeling aroused in Gettysburg during the past Summer against the man on account of his alleged unsportsmanlike playing in various games with the Philadelphia Athletics, the pet team of all Gettysburg base ball fans.

Cobb is generally considered one of the best players in the business and proved to be one of Detroit's prominent factors in their successful struggle for the pennant. The feat of "Eddie" Plank in striking him out twice in one game only served to deepen the regard in which the Straban township twirler is held by Gettysburg base ball followers.

It is safe to say that in Gettysburg, at least, Cobb will be the most interesting party in the entire crowd of automobilists, about 400 strong.

GETTYSBURG 27 DELAWARE 10

Orange and Blue Defeats Delaware College in Hotly Contested Game of Football Fought on Muddy Field in Rain.

In a drenching downpour of rain on a field that looked like a sea of mud Gettysburg on Saturday defeated Delaware College in the most interesting and exciting game of foot ball seen on Nixon Field for many months. The score resulted Gettysburg 27, Delaware 10.

The game opened well for the orange and blue but the tide soon turned. Gettysburg worked the ball down the field by straight foot ball to Delaware's 25 yard line. Here a forward pass was tried, went wrong and dropped to the ground where it was picked up by an opposing player who with the entire Delaware team at his heels carried the ball unmolested eighty yards for a touchdown. The try at goal failed.

A few minutes later Delaware tried a forward pass on Gettysburg's twenty five yard line. It worked beautifully resulting in another touchdown. The try at goal again failed. Score Delaware 10, Gettysburg 0.

The rooters along the side lines still had confidence in their team and, while the rain poured, cheered lustily for the mud-begrimed pigskin warriors who now went at the game in earnest. Five or six substitutes were started in the game in anticipation of an easy contest and these were now quickly relieved by varsity men. Straight foot ball resulted in a touchdown for Gettysburg and Aldinger kicked the goal. The half ended without further scoring.

In the second half Gettysburg showed what was in them. Two touchdowns from hard straight foot ball resulted and Phillip scored another in a beautiful fifty yard run through mud and water after catching a difficult punt. Aldinger kicked all three goals. Later in the half Hosack kicked a pretty goal from placement and the game ended Gettysburg 27, Delaware 10.

The game was spectacular throughout. Many kicks, long runs, puntouts from touchdowns, the uncertainty of the score and the unusual spectacle of two teams battling in five or six inches of mud with torrents of rain falling served to make the two hundred enthusiasts amply repaid for braving the elements for two hours.

PREPARING FOR GAME

Says the Carlisle correspondent of the Harrisburg Telegraph:

"Gettysburg will come to Carlisle with a brass band and 400 ardent enthusiasts. Preceding the game both colleges will parade the streets of Carlisle and a demonstration of college spirit such as has never before been seen is promised. Fully 10,000 people are expected to flood the handsome new Biddle field. Arrangements are being made with the Cumberland Valley railroad whereby several of their trains will stop and discharge passengers in front of the new Biddle field.

"The Dickinson eleven this fall is captained by their star quarterback, Mount Pleasant. This daring player is in better shape than ever, and to see him play alone is worth the price of admission. Gettysburg is led by Weimer, who last year played such a wonderful game at half back.

STOLE SERMONS TO USE THEM

Waynesboro Lad who Took Rev. Mr. Rue's Sermons Wanted to Preach and Stole his Material from Minister. Some Recovered.

It develops that the sermons which were stolen from Rev. V. T. Rue, the former Gettysburg and New Oxford minister, the theft of which he charges to Raymond Rumley are valued at $1,670. It is said that 118 sermons were stolen, of which 76 were burned. Infatuated with preaching as a profession is alleged to have been the motive that led Rumley to steal the sermons. He is twenty years old.

Soon after Rev. Mr. Rue assumed the pastorate of the Methodist church Rumley began to borrow religious works from him and seemed to be deeply absorbed in things theological. In his talks with acquaintances his conversation was largely of preaching. It is said.

When the sermons were stolen Rev. Mr. Rue employed Baltimore and Hagerstown detectives and 3 Waynesboro officers and after an investigation which extended over twelve months Rumley was called into a conference with Mr. Rue in the study of the pastor. While facing the door, he is alleged to have broken in entering the parsonage, he is said to have confessed to Rev. Mr. Rue the theft of the sermons. It is alleged that Rumley's mother when she searched her son's room found 76 of the sermons, which she burned and that Rumley, when arrested, returned 42, together with the gold watch and chain and one of a pair of the glasses which were stolen at the time that the sermons disappeared.

RECLUSE SLAIN IN LONELY HUT

Body Was Wheeled a Mile and Hidden in Bushes.

HAD BEEN MISSING SOME TIME

While Tramping Through Wilderness
Egg Harbor, N. J., Man Finds Evidence of Murder—An Ugly Wound Found on Left Side of Head.

Egg Harbor, N. J., Oct. 25.—Murdered in his lonely hut and carted for nearly a mile on a wheelbarrow, the body of John Gavron, a recluse, was found in a clump of bushes. Gavron came here from New York several months ago and built a small hut in the wilderness. His neighbors saw him working daily until a few weeks ago.

Just before his disappearance a man named Borzay came to the settlement and also built a hut.

Gavron and Borzay were seen together frequently. When the old man was missed, it is alleged, Borzay said he had gone to a Philadelphia hospital for treatment.

Borzay later left for New York to get a position as wheelwright. Nothing since has been heard from him here.

While going through the woods in the extreme interior of the settlement Kettosh came across the dead man. He hastened to the home of his nearest neighbor, Peltry, and reported his find. Peltry at once recognized it as that of the missing man. Fifty feet away was an old wheelbarrow, around the axle of which was twisted young oak saplings. Tightly tied around the man's legs was a rope made of ticking. His clothing had been almost torn off his body in being dragged through the thicket. Upon the left side of his head appeared an ugly wound.

Chief of Police George Bent, Sheriff Johnson, Prosecutor Bolte and Detective Malsed are investigating and expect to have the murderer, whoever he may be, under arrest before many days.

SUICIDE EFFORT TOO CHEAP

Quarter's Worth of Gas Fails to Kill Man and Wife.

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 25.—Lewis Phillips and his wife, who have twice in two weeks tried to commit suicide, were able to talk about their failures. It appears that they wanted to die too cheaply.

Phillips said that they had attempted suicide two weeks ago, but the gas supply gave out before they had accomplished their purpose. The same thing happened Saturday night. Phillips said he placed a quarter in the meter, and he supposed that it would pay for enough gas to cause their deaths. However, the meter stopped working after the quarter's worth of gas had been furnished.

Town Boasts of Its Empty Jail.

Clay Center, Kan., Oct. 25.—This town claims the honor of being the real truly good town in the real truly good county in the United States. It has been so long since any one was sent to the state penitentiary that the last one has been forgotten. The county jail has been empty since June 15. It had no occupant for several months before that, but June 14 the sheriff picked up a man who the next day was found not guilty. There hasn't been a case in police court since Aug. 28. This town has 3,000 people and there are 16,000 in the county.

Clung to Wreckage For Twelve Hours.
New York, Oct. 25.—The United Fruit company's steamship Admiral Dewey, when off Cape Henlopen on Saturday evening, sighted a capsize schooner, with three men clinging to the side. CAVE-IN OVER MINE

Earth Subsides In Strip Quarter of a Mile Long.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Oct. 25.—Edwardsville, a mining town four miles from here, was the scene of considerable excitement. A cave-in occurred on Jernyn street, which was caused by too much coal being removed from the Orchard vein in No. 1 mine, operated by the Kingston Coal company.

The cave extends for nearly a quarter of a mile long and not over two feet in width. Several houses in the vicinity were damaged, among them being the one occupied by the chief of police of the borough, whose loss alone is said to be over $1000. The surface still shows signs of working, and many persons in the neighborhood are seeking safer quarters.

MRS. TRACEY GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER

Claim She Gave Husband "Love
Potion" Saved Her Life.

York, Pa., Oct. 25.—Mrs. Minnie Elmitra Tracey, charged with murdering her husband, Joshua Tracey, by administering poisoned coffee to him, was found guilty of manslaughter.

Mrs. Tracey wept bitterly when the verdict was made known. Her life was saved by her declaration that the powder she used was given her by William R. Brown, her alleged accomplice. In order, as he made her believe, she says, that it was a "love potion," which would cause her husband's heart to soften towards her and result in him treating her more kindly. An analysis showed the poisoning was strychnine. Brown will be tried for murder at the January term of court.

This is an increase of a little over 10 per cent, but the increase is distributed among the large number of articles.

While the total for the nine months ending with September last is still below that of the corresponding months of the preceding year, the months of May, June, July and September show in each case an advance over the corresponding month of last year.

Spouse Raises $2 Bills.

New York, Oct. 25.—The case of Ethel Sims, the sixteen-year-old girl from Wilmington, Del., who says she was married against her will at the city hall last Thursday to Harry Mason, was adjourned by Magistrate Butts in the West Side police court for a hearing later.

Although reticent concerning her attempt to take her own life in Mason's apartments before they were married on Thursday, the girl admitted that she did try suicide by gas.

"I found," she said, "that Jimmie had put the padlock on the hall side of the door. This frightened me. I bolted the hall door on the inside, shut the door of my room and the window and turned on both gas jets.

"Jimmie (that is what Mason told her his Christian name was) couldn't get in when he came back, so he climbed up the fire escape and broke the window. He unscrewed the lock from the door to my room and held my head out of the window."

The girl said that Jimmie was an expert at raising $2 bills to $20 bills.

"He used a special green ink, which he told me was very expensive," she told a reporter. "He said it was hard to get this ink, as the government wouldn't let it be sold. He told me that his gang did the work, but that he would bring me to the place and teach me the trick later on."

FARM FOR SALE

Situated in Straban township, on the York pike, one mile from Gettysburg, containing 123 acres farm land and 22 acres woodland. Inquire of C. W. Ziegler, Gettysburg, or E. M. Ziegler, 1427 Christian St., Philadelphia.

The writer recently had opportunity to put some questions to a civil engineer who has had charge of private and government irrigation projects in the Yakima valley. Among other things, his opinion touching pumping plants for irrigation purposes where the land did not lie right to receive water from a gravity system was that they were quite practicable and satisfactory and for a forty acre tract ought not to exceed $800. He held that even better results could be secured, including greater economy in operation, if a group of from three to six neighbors were to unite in the construction and maintenance of such irrigating plant.

One of the surprises for the visitor at the Seattle exposition is the remarkable display of agricultural products to be found in the Alaska building. The climate of southern Alaska is greatly modified by ocean currents which have much the same effect that the gulf stream has on the countries of northern Europe. As far north as latitude 64 degrees grains and grasses are grown successfully, as well as potatoes and other root crops. The last to be added to the list is the festive watermelon. Considering the fact that this great domain was for many years viewed as a resort for seals and polar bears, the showing referred to is not bad.

An Old-Time Prescription

in a modern product. From time immemorial sage and sulphur have been used for the hair and scalp. Almost every one knows of the value of such a combination for darkening the hair and making it grow. In olden times the only way to get a hair tonic of this sort was to brew it in the home fireplace, a method which was troublesome and not always satisfactory. Nowadays almost every up-to-date druggist can supply his patrons with a ready to use product, skillfully compounded in perfectly equipped laboratories. Such a preparation is Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, which is sold by all leading druggists for 50c, and $1.00 a bottle, or which is sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

IN PLACE OF WOOD.

Easy Method For Casting Concrete For Wire Fencing.

The manufacture of a re-enforced concrete fencepost five inches on the face and beveled to two and three-quarter inches on the opposite face, with a thickness of six inches and total length of eight feet, will make an average of eighteen posts to the cubic yard of concrete. Thus posts with wire re-enforcement would cost from 12 to 16 cents each for material, depending upon the cost of portland cement and sand and gravel. With the simple apparatus shown in the illustration two men could mold 150 good posts in a day of ten hours. At this rate the labor cost of posts should not be more than 2 cents each. The posts shown in the first illustration are solid.

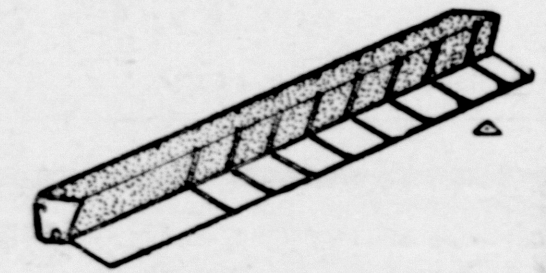

SOLID CONCRETE POSTS.

Now for the building of the machines.

For the bottom board of machine use a two and three-quarter inch wide strip eight feet long. To this hinge the two sides in the manner shown in the illustration. The sides are six and one-quarter inches wide and eight feet two inches long, with one edge hinged to bottom board. For the two ends use a board 5 by 6 inches along one end. On the five inch width make a mark in from each corner exactly one and one-eighth inches and draw a line from that to the opposite corner, cutting along this line, which makes a trapezoid with one end two and three-quarter inches and the other end five inches wide. This is hinged to the bottom board with strap hinges, as shown by illustration.

The sides are two inches longer than bottom board and lap over the width of the ends. They are held in position when molding posts by a hook and eyelet to fasten same to end boards.

Take some inside window stops, usually one-half inch thick by three-quarters of an inch wide, plane down the edges so as to make one-half inch square and cut into pieces five and one-half inches for the sides and two and three-quarter inches for the bottom. Tack these to side and bottom boards at the points you wish the wire ties to come. This depends upon the fence you will erect and for ordinary use is six inches apart. This completes the machine, which is operated as follows:

Mix portland cement, one part with six parts of clean sand and gravel, after placing your re-enforcing wire, fill into machine and tamp down solidly. After you have the machine filled turn it bottom side up on to a board and unhook hooks at each end. This allows the sides and ends to be folded back from the post without danger of injuring the same, and thus a man at each end can lift machine easily. The posts are left upon the boards to dry and should not be touched for four days or a week. If the weather is dry they should be sprinkled once or twice a day to retard the "setting," which makes them stronger. As soon as they have permanently "set," or hardened, pile them up as you would any post.

The re-enforcing wires are placed by boring one-eighth inch holes in each end of machine. For average work three will be enough, but if a strong post is desired use five. Through these holes string No. 9 wire, which is imbedded in the concrete and thus strengthens the posts, preventing any vibration or strain from breaking them. End posts may be molded with holes at proper place to which you can attach braces with bolts.

Fragrance of Hay.

The agreeable odor of freshly cut hay is imparted to it by certain plants of the family of the labiates, such as the salad burnet, woodruff, sweet trefoil, etc., but in particular by the so called spring grass or vernal grass (Anthoxanthum odoratum). This latter is a very precocious graminia that flourishes as early as the end of April or the beginning of May. It grows in low and thick tufts and thrives chiefly in fresh and shaded ground.

Now, should you ask us whence this odor of the spring grass which to hay imparts its fragrance, it is due to the aromatic principle called coumarin by the chemists. This substance is also extracted from the above mentioned plants in which it appears in appreciable quantities and used in the manufacture of perfumes as well as in medicines in the form of sedative and carminative pastes and syrups against bronchitis, whooping cough, etc.

JUSTICE PECKHAM CLAIMED BY DEATH

Member of Nation's Supreme Court Dies Near Albany.

WAS AN ARDENT DEMOCRAT

Served as Judge of Court of Appeals and Justice of Supreme Court in New York Prior to Appointment by President Cleveland to United States Supreme Court Bench in 1895.

New York, Oct. 25.—Rufus Wheeler Peckham, associate justice of the supreme court of the United States, died at his summer home, Altamont, just outside of Albany. He was appointed by President Cleveland in 1895.

His death was due to angina pectoris.

Rufus W. Peckham was born at Albany, N. Y., Nov. 3, 1838. He was educated at Albany academy and in Philadelphia. He was admitted to the bar in 1859. He was district attorney of Albany county in 1868. Later he was corporation counsel of Albany. From 1883 to 1886 he was a justice of the supreme court of New York. From then until 1895 he was associate justice of the court of appeals of New York. In that year he was appointed to the supreme court of the United States by President Cleveland. Perhaps the most important opinion he ever delivered during the quarter of a century he served on the bench was handed down in 1905, in which section 110 of the New York state labor law was held unconstitutional in restricting the hours of labor. Justices Harlan, White, Day and Holmes dissented from this opinion.

Mr. Peckham was an ardent and aggressive Democrat. He was president of the Albany Democratic county committee at one time. He has been the presiding officer of several conventions of the party and took an active part in the national conventions of 1876 and 1880.

GOV. CURRY ACCUSED

Chief Executive of New Mexico Offers to Resign When Attacked.

Santa Fe, N. M., Oct. 25.—A. M. Jackley, of Alamogordo, N. M., has filed serious charges against Governor George Curry. He asks Secretary of the Interior Ballinger for the removal of Curry. Secretary Ballinger was here and in conference with Curry. While no definite announcement of Curry's resignation is given out, it is rumored that Curry told Ballinger he would hand in his resignation to the department of the interior in thirty days.

The charges state that Curry is unfit for the office of governor and attacks his character. He is accused of gross laxity in the administration of the affairs of the state and with using his powers for political ends. He is accused of having whitewashed a large number of scandals, including the recent penitentiary scandal, of passing over shortages found in the district clerk's office at the court at Las Cruces and in other district courts.

The rebels captured two Krupp siege guns and 400 rifles.

News has been received from the interior to the effect that President Zelaya is recruiting and mobilizing troops at Managua. Apparently none of his army is enroute to the Atlantic coast. General Chamorro is advancing slowly into the interior strengthening his forces as he goes.

STEEL TRUST TO RUN BREWERIES

Buying Control of All Plants in Fayette County, Pa.

WILL INVEST $10,000,000

Object Is to Regulate the Drinking of Employees, as Officials Claim It Interferes With Their Work—Workers Will Not be Sold Beer by the Keg.

Pittsburg, Oct. 25.—The United States Steel corporation has decided to make an effort to control the drinking habit of 25,000 persons in Fayette county, Pa., interested in the manufacture of coke, and will invest $10,000,000 in the project to obtain possession of the nine breweries now running inside the county. While the effort is being made to merge these breweries, it is understood that the Steel corporation is back of the whole move and will try to regulate the drinking of the foreigners, it being figured that at least 3 per cent better returns can be gleaned on the millions invested there by regulating the drink of the coke worker, permitting him to drink, but stipulating where and when he shall drink.

Sales of beer by the keg or by the barrel to the coke worker is what the corporation objects to, and this it will try to remedy. For more than a year figures have been gathered on drinking among the coke workers, and it is found that for seventy-two hours after each day the coke ovens don't run more than two-thirds capacity, and there is scarcely a pay day when hundreds of tons of coke are not ruined by inability to get proper men to care for it in the ovens.

The idea is to increase the number of licensed drinking places in the county, so that all the workmen will be supplied, but to kill the sale of drink in bulk to the coke worker, it being alleged that the workman lays in a great store of drink when he has money and then "lies down beside it."

BOY BUILDS AEROPLANE

Twelve-Year-Old Lad's Model Works by Rubber Band.

New York, Oct. 25.—Wilson Marshall, Jr., twelve years old, won the silver cup offered in the aeroplane contest at the Fifty-seventh street branch of the Y. M. C. A.

Marshall entered a biplane model about three feet wide and two feet long, which is an interesting duplicate of the Wright machine. It was built entirely by young Marshall and propelled in its flight by a rubber-band motor. It flew sixty-two feet and far exceeded in efficiency every other model entered in the contest.

Greenwich, Conn., Oct. 25.—"Teeth

The patient must be a Greenwisher and a child, and he or she must present himself or herself at the rooms of the United Workers on certain days of the week to have the work done.

The work is intended to be done free, and the 10 cents a tooth is charged in order that the children and parents may feel that they are not the recipients of charity, but may feel that they are paying in a measure for what they get.

A Heating System that Pays Dividends

You can keep every nook and corner of your house warm and comfortable every hour of every day and night and yet save a third to a half the coal you now use in that hot-air furnace or inferior boiler. No rattling, poking or fussing, no dust, no cool rooms or "cold side" to your house. Simply install the wonderful

MODEL Heating System

Adapted to steam or hot water. Uses less coal because it gets all the heat out of it. Leaves only the fine white ashes. Needs coal only once in ten hours, even on the coldest days.

THE LEDOM RANGE

Solves the problems of kitchen economy just as perfectly as the Model System solves the heating problem. Its plan of draught and circulation of heat make it easy and quick to control. Its grate is much like the grate under the Model Boiler, and keeps a clear working fire.

A Costly Quarrel.

Rowley, the English violinist, was hard to beat on his perseverance against one who had incurred his ill will. Rowley had a quarrel with a horse dealer named Brant. It was a trivial matter, but Rowley took the next house to Brant, set up a piano, bought a cornet and proceeded to make himself at home. After one or two assault cases in court Brant moved. Rowley bought out the next door neighbor and followed with piano and cornet. Brant went to law, but found he could do nothing. Failing, he took a detached house. Then Rowley hired brass bands and organs and assailed him. This was actionable, and Rowley paid $1,000 for his revenge.—London Tatler.

NOW AT MARTINSBURG

A despatch to the Baltimore Sun from Martinsburg, W. Va., says:

"Martinsburg expects to add to its varied industries a shoe factory. Mr. Charles Heiser, of Baltimore, one of the best-known shoemakers in the country, came here last spring and tried to interest capitalists and business men in a proposed shoe factory, but the effort was a failure. Later, however, a new set of men have taken hold of the project and now it looks like it would be a success."

Mr. Heiser's efforts at starting shoe factories in Gettysburg and Biglerville some months ago are well remembered.

TEACHERS' MEETINGS

The second meeting of the Liberty Township Teachers' Association was held Friday evening at Weaverville and was very largely attended. The president, W. P. Hull, called the meeting to order. An unusually good entertainment was provided and the following topics were discussed: "Observance of Holidays," Miss Kugler; "The Value of Composition Work," Miss Bowling and Mr. Hull. Six teachers, Misses Edna Sites, Lucy Bowling, Mae Kugler, Elizabeth Herring, Messrs. Charles Carbaugh and W. Preston Hull and two directors, Mr. P. H. Riley and Mr. Sherman Sites, were present. The next meeting will be held at Lower Tract School house, November 26.

The second teachers' educational meeting for Menallen township was held Friday evening at Weaverville and was very largely attended. The president, J. B. Bushey, called the meeting to order. The first part of the program was taken up largely by the school and Mr. Hoffman, the teacher, deserves much credit for the manner in which his part was executed. Miss Maud Taylor read an excellent paper on the subject "Are Prizes a Good Incentive to School Study?" This was followed by remarks from E. M. Hoffman, C. M. Walhay and Mr. Bushey. Miss Ethel Baugher gave a reading on "James A. Garfield" and was compelled to respond to an encore. "How to Teach Arithmetic" was then discussed by J. B. Bushey. He was followed by a few questions and remarks from H. C. Hartman. The next meeting will be held at Cottage Hill on November 19.

The teachers of Franklin township met in an educational meeting on Friday evening in the school building at Mummasburg. The constitution and by-laws were adopted and the Arendtsville teachers admitted as members of the Franklin township Association. Twelve teachers responded when the roll was called. The entertainment features of the program were much enjoyed and the following topics were discussed: "How may the Home and School Work together?" Calvin Cluck, Mr. Stover, C. A. Hartman and Miss Anna Hartman; "Chinese Education," Miss Alma Henry; "Why do Teachers' Meetings often Lack Interest?" several of the teachers discussed this topic; "What Incentives are Most Helpful in Character Training?" Under Current Events the Cook-Pearcy controversy was discussed as were the Floods and the White Plague. The next meeting will be held at Rocky Grove November 19.

Home Course In Live Stock Farming

I.—Fences.

By C. V. GREGORY,
Author of "Home Course In Modern Agriculture," "Making Money on the Farm," Etc.

Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.

ONE of the most important parts of the equipment for live stock farming is a good system of fences. Poor fences cause breachy stock and endless trouble. In the case of horses a wire cut due to a poor fence will often mean a large enough loss to pay for several rods of good fence.

Woven wire is unquestionably the best fencing material. It is slightly, durable and efficient. The expense is higher than for barbed wire, but this can be cut down by making only the lower part of the fence of woven wire and using barbed wire for the upper part. The strip of woven wire should be from two to three feet in height.

with two or three barbed wires on top. This makes a fence that will turn any kind of stock from pigs to horses. There is little danger of a horse getting into such a fence and getting out.

Where much stock is kept it will pay to have the entire farm fenced with this or some other kind of fence that is hog or sheep tight. It is not a question of whether you can afford it or not; it is a question of whether you can afford not to do it. It will probably not be possible to fence all the farm in one year, but the work should be done as rapidly as possible. The extra feed the hogs and sheep will pick up will pay the entire cost of fencing in a very few years.

Cement Posts.

The first part of the fence to be put up is the posts. The time for putting up cheap posts that will rot out and need renewal in three or four years is past. There are two ways of securing lasting posts—making them of cement and treating wooden posts with creosote. Cement posts are not hard to make. The first step is to make a wooden mold of the proper size. About six inches square at the bottom, tapering to four at the top, is a very good size. Three cornered strips should be placed in the bottom of the molds to make the corners of the posts rounded. A number of molds can be built side by side, so that several posts can be made at once. The best mixture for cement posts is one part portland cement, two and one-half parts clean, sharp sand and five parts gravel. The sand and cement should be mixed dry. Then add water and mix to a thick mortar. After this is well mixed spread it out in a thin layer and spread the required amount of gravel over it. Mix the whole mass well by shoveling over several times.

The inside of the molds should be greased with soft soap to keep the cement from sticking. Spread about one and one-half inches of concrete over the bottom and tamp it well. Near each corner lay a steel wire lengthwise of the post. These re-enforcing wires should be fairly heavy, but will not need to be galvanized, as the concrete will keep them from rusting. They should be looped at the end to prevent slipping. Now add concrete up to within an inch of the top of the mold, tamp again and put in two more re-enforcing wires. Fill the mold to the top, tamp and round off the upper corners. Long staples with the points bent a little to keep them from pulling out should be stuck into the cement at the places where the wires are to be fastened. After the posts are set the wires can be fastened to these staples by a small piece of soft wire twisted through them.

After the cement has partially set it should be covered with sand to keep it from drying out too rapidly. The posts should be sprinkled at least once a day for a week, when they may be taken from the molds and stored away in moist sand to cure. It takes sixty days for a cement post to cure properly, and it should not be set before that time. In the meantime the sand should be kept moist by occasional sprinklings. The cost of material for cement posts the size mentioned and seven feet long is not more than 25 cents a post, not counting the labor. When once in place they will last practically forever. The method of treating wooden fence-posts with creosote is very simple and inexpensive. Any kind of post is suitable for use with this treatment—indeed, the poorest soft wood posts last the longest after being properly treated. The apparatus needed consists of two small metal tanks, one of which is arranged so that a fire can be built under it. Both tanks are filled two-thirds full of creosote, which can be bought by the barrel at reasonable rates. The creosote in one of these tanks is heated almost to boiling, and the posts, which must be well seasoned, are placed in it and left for about six hours. Usually only the part of the post that is to go into the ground is treated.

C. V. GREGORY

After remaining in the hot creosote for six hours the posts are taken out and immediately placed in the cold creosote. The sudden reduction of temperature causes the steam in the pores of the post to contract, making a partial vacuum, and the air pressure drives the creosote into all parts of the post. This treatment costs only about 10 cents a post. The treated posts will last twenty years or longer, or about five times as long as untreated ones.

In putting up a permanent woven wire fence great care must be taken to see that the corner posts are well braced. Fig. 1 shows a very effective way of making a solid corner. The corner post should be considerably larger than the others. A hole 2 by 4 should be dug to set it in. Bolt a piece of plank about three feet long to the bottom of the post and a shorter piece at right angles to the first. Fill in dirt up to the top of these and tamp it solid. Then roll in a number of large stones and fill the rest of the hole with dirt, tamping it well all the way up. Such a post, if properly braced, will not give much under any strain that may be put upon it. A way that is still better, though a little more expensive, is to set the corner post in cement.

The fencing selected should be strongly woven and made of good sized wire. Flimsy fencing costs a little less at first, but does not last well enough to warrant putting it up. Be sure that the cross wires are fastened firmly to the longitudinal strands, so that they cannot be spread out of place. Both the woven and the barbed wire should be well galvanized. Wire that is galvanized after weaving, as shown by the crevices and joints being filled with the galvanizing material, will last much longer than that which is galvanized before weaving. In the latter case the galvanizing material will be more or less cracked, and the wire will soon begin to rust.

It is of great importance to have the wire well stretched. An ordinary wire stretcher will not stretch woven wire tightly enough. Where a large quantity is purchased at a time a powerful wire stretcher is usually thrown in. It will pay to set a temporary post a little way back from the corner to stretch from. The wire should be wrapped around the corner post and fastened in several places, as the strain here is very heavy. If there are more than twenty rods in a single line it will be necessary to brace a line post midway between the corners to stretch from, as more than twenty rods cannot be tightened satisfactorily at one stretch.

Wherever a gate is to be put in the posts will have to be braced solidly. A good way to do this is to put in posts that will extend about twelve feet above the ground and connect the tops with a strong wire. This method of bracing cannot be used with cement posts, as they will not stand much lateral strain.

A swinging gate is by far the most convenient, provided it is properly put in. It should be well enough braced so that it will not sag and drag on the ground. In places where the snow is likely to drift a gate that can be adjusted to various heights is a great convenience. Fig. 2 shows a convenient and easily constructed type of wooden gate. For road gates and at other places where appearance counts for anything an iron gate is preferable. It looks better and is more durable, but the cost is considerably greater.
